

Vote No on Initiatives!

We must defend Washington against a slate of four deceptive and dangerous ballot initiatives this November. These initiatives will unfairly shift the cost for important services from the wealthy and big corporations to the rest of us.

Millionaire hedge-fund manager Brian Heywood, who moved here from California, spent more than $6 million of his own money on paid signature gathering to bend our laws to serve his interest and to give himself and his super-rich friends a massive tax cut.

These misleading initiatives roll back the hard work of our state legislators who put into law well-thought-out solutions to some of Washington's problems. In fact, Haywood's Initiatives are trying to prevent important information about funding cuts from appearing on your ballot so that you don't know all the facts.

I-2109 - Repeals Washington's limited capital gains tax, eliminating over $2.2 billion in funding for education, childcare, and early learning by giving a tax break to the state's wealthiest.

I-2117- A purposely misleading initiative opposed by firefighters, small business owners, doctors, Tribal Nations and more. No to more pollution. No to more traffic congestion.

I-2124 - Seeks to dismantle WA Cares, Washington's long-term care benefit program, potentially stripping over 3 million workers of over $8.1 billion in guaranteed, earned benefits.

I-2066- Increases energy bills and attacks energy efficiency by repealing and prohibiting commonsense protections.
